Our support for communities after wildfires, hurricanes and earthquakes

September 28, 2017

We at Kaiser Permanente have great concern and empathy for those who felt the impact of an unprecedented season marked by wildfires, earthquakes and hurricanes in our communities and beyond.

But that's not enough: We are working to help reduce the effects of these disasters, because clean food and water, housing and power — as well as access to health care — are essential to relief and recovery.

Kaiser Permanente has provided $5.25 million to many key partners — including the CDC Foundation, International Medical Corps and American Red Cross — for relief efforts in Houston, Puerto Rico, Mexico and Northern California.
