

Best Employer for Women

At Kaiser Permanente, about 75 percent of our employees —nurses, leaders, specialists, professionals and more — are women.

Many publications and organizations have long recognized our efforts to provide career opportunities and growth for women at Kaiser Permanente. Our latest honors:

- Forbes magazine’s “Best Employers for Women”
- DiversityInc’s “Top Companies for Executive Women”
- LATINA Style’s “50 Best Companies for Latinas to Work in the U.S.”

“There were many ways Kaiser Permanente paved the way for me to be successful and advance in my career ...,” said Julie Miller-Phipps, regional president for Kaiser Permanente in Southern California, who first started working at Kaiser Permanente in 1979.

“I’m proud to be part of an organization that is truly committed to an environment and business practices that result in equitable development and advancement.”
